Chief of Police Says He Has Been Maligned by Civic Federation Attorney.

Goes Into Detail as to Testimony at Trial at Red Oak and Asks Why He Was Sought Out.

garding the resolutions criticising him his testimony in the Tom Dennison n the subject, Chief of Police Donahue morning by a Bee reporter:

to make it appear that I rushed over to Red Oak to espouse the cause of the dehad at my command. A plain recital of the methods of trying to procure evifacts may assist in freeing the public from these distortions of the truth,

"On the 19th day of May I was served with a subpoena by Constable Ed Simpson, the summons commanding me to appear at Red Oak on May 26 and to bring with me certain records and correspondence between the authorities in Oklahoma and myself with regard to Shercliffe. This suboena was issued on behalf of the state of accepted the subpoena and the constable amounted to $6.50. I told the constable I was leaving the city that night to attend the convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police of the United States and Canada at Washington, D. C., peginning May 22 and ending May 26. I also told him I would be back in time to testify in the case, as I was satisfied it would not be ended until after I got back. went to Washington, arriving there on the night of May 21 and on the evening of May 22 I was in an automobile accident and was badly shaken up. The following day, according to newspaper accounts, Elmer E. Thomas stated at Red Oak, in substance, that he suspected the accident at Washington was a put up job; that I was not hurt and had given out the report purposely to avoid being a witness against Tom Dennison at Red Oak.

Goes to the Trial.

"I returned home on the morning of 30, at which time I called up Con-Simpson by 'phone and told him I ould go over to Red Oak June 1; that I had a case in the Douglas county court on the morning of the 31st which would necessitate my presence. The constable told me he had given my witness fees to Thomas. "On the morning of June 1 I took the early train to Red Oak, arriving there about 9:25, taking with me all the correspondence asked for in regard to the crime Shercliffe was wanted for in Oklahoma. I proeded at once to the court room, where I ived instructions that all witnesses were ed from the room until called. I stepped downstairs into the clerk's office and had my copybooks and correspondence placed in the vault. At 2 o'clock that afternoon I was sitting in front of the Johnson hotel when the sheriff called my name from the court room. I went across the street to the court house and got my copybooks and correspondence, went up into the court room and was called to the witness stand. After being sworn by Judge Green and answering some preliminary questions At-torney Connell asked me if I had been subpoenaed by the state. Mr. Thomas immediately objected to my answering.

"That was the first intimation I had that knew the reputation of Tom Dennison for honesty and integrity in the community in which he lives. I responded in the affirmawas, and I replied that it was good. Upon cross-examination Mr. Thomas asked me on what I based my answer as to Tom Dennison's reputation being good. I answered that I based my response on the fact that I had heard some of the foremost men of Omaha say so. He asked me who these men of Omaha and I could name some of them if he wished. At his request I did so, In response to his question if I did not replied that I did. He then asked me if I believed a gambler's reputation for honesty Neither Mr. Thomas nor any of the other

Of course the fact that Dennison was a gambler would in a measure burt his reputation from a moral standpoint, as it would the reputations of Omaha's Corps Will Scatter to Feur hundreds of other men whom I know to be bonest and upright in business matters. "Mr. Thomas and the newspapers have interviewed each and every man referred to by me as to Tom Dennison's honesty and integrity and all of them corroborated what I said on the witness stand.

Why is He Singled Out? "I do not think that Mr. Thomas or any of these people who adopted the resolutions question the honesty of the judge by whom and upright men who sat on the jury and who decided the case as they thought right and proper according to the law and the se at Red Oak and the cartoons printed evidence. But why I am singled out as the on the subject, Chief of Police Donahue main and star witness in the Dennison case had this to say when questioned yesterday I do not understand. What I testified to in the Dennison case is absolutely true and "I feel that I have been maligned and I would be compelled to give the same testiplaced in a false and unjust light. I am ready and willing as chief of and my administration of the office at any time, in private or in public, and to permit the closest inspection of all I have done as the head of the police department.

"Had I not gone to Red Oak as a witness lowa by direction of Elmer E. Thomas. I in answer to a subpoena obtained by the prosecution, and after the attorneys had tendered me the fees, which, I think, agreed that my testimony could be introduced when I arrived, even though the state had closed, what then would Mr. timated in a public statement that I had purposely caused the news to be sent over the wires that I had been hurt in Why did not Mr. Thomas allow me to show my correspondence? Was it because quested me to get certain information with the object of connecting Shereliffe with a burglary in Oklahoma, and that all the correspondence and the evidence gathered by me at this end was at the request of the Oklahoma authorities? "I say it is wrong to accuse me of par-disanship in this case and that none know it better than my traducers and enemies.

John F. Soby of Remington Typewriter Company Points Out the Opportunities and Necessity of the Stenographer.

The demand for the male stenographer and the attractive opportunity afforded Bridge company, $4.750, 39 cents, $37.50, $8.50. him for advancement in the business world was the theme for an address by Mr. John F. Soby of the Remington Typewriter company delivered before the convention of the Eastern Commercial Teachers' association at Philadelphia. Mr. Soby street. address he said:

The best general illustration of the situation as it exists is furnished by the figures of the employment departments of the Remington Typewriter company. I have examined these records, covering seven of the targest cities in the United States, and find that during the year less they placed 16,24; stenographers. Of this number there were 4,68 men, less than 39 per cent. The number of calls for men stenographers footed up 40 per cent of the total, a fact which shows how great is the discrepancy between the demand and the total, a fact which shows how great is the discrepancy between the demand and the supply. In the course of the year the Remington people were compelled to refuse nearly 2,000 applicants for men stenographers at these seven cities alone. On February 1, 1902, the men among the active applicants for positions at the seven offices referred to numbered only 10 per cent of the total and yet the calls averaged 40 per cent. These general figures show clearly the gravity of the situation. They show, furthermore, that the situation is not improving. If figures prove anything, the conditions are growing worse.

Demand from Government

Demand from Government.

So much for the male applicants for stenographic positions. Let us turn now to the reverse side of the picture, the applicants for stenographic help. The largest single employer of stenographic help. The largest single employer of stenographic help in the country is the United States government, and the experience of the government in this respect may fairly be regarded as typical. I was reading only the other day about the trouble that Uncle Sam has in getting his stenographers. For some years past it has been impossible to get a sufficient supply of young men to fill the vacant places. The pay is good and the work is not hard. Uncle Sam pays his stenographers $1,200 per annum at the beginning, with an increase to $1,400 in six months where competency is shown; yet still the dearth continues.

In 1896 of the thirty-nine young men who passed the civil service examination thirty-five were appointed. The remaining four also received appointments, but declined them.

In 1897 of the 116 passing sixty-two were Demand from Government.

In 1897 of the 116 passing sixty-two were appointed; a considerable number of the unappointed also received offers, but de-clined. In 1898 sixty-three passed and sixty-two clined.

In 1898 sixty-three passed and sixty-two were appointed.

In 1899 eighty-five passed and of these seventy-four were appointed.

I am just in receipt of information from one of the best known commercial schools in the country that at present they have 250 male students in their commercial department and thirty in their stenographic department. How nearly these figures represent the general situation, the principals of business schools know better than I, but the testimony of other business educators on the same subject induces me to believe that they afford a very fair picture of present conditions. Recently one of the prominent commercial ducators in New York said to me that he appreciated the fact that only a very small proportion of young men were taking up stenography and typewriting. He paid little attention to the subject, however, because his experience had taught him that the effort necessary to improve matters promised no adequate return for the labor involved. I was glad to hear that admission, for it gave me added encouragement in the preparation of this paper. I imagine that if each of you were asked the amount of effort that you put forth to secure male students, you would reply in a similar strain.

PENNSYLVANIA PICNIC PUT OFF August 15 Selected as Date for Outins

At a largely attended meeting of the officers and committee on arrangements of the Pennsylvania club picnic, held last evening, it was decided to postpone the basket picnic to have been held at Blair, Neb., on Tuesday, June 20, to Tuesday, August 15. This postpomement was found necessary on account of the cheap rates to Chicago, Milwaukee, etc., the grocers picnic and two others to be held in the week of the 20th.

The society wants to make this picnic a grand success, and as it was thought wise to postpone it a late date was decided upon. After harvest seemed to be the best time for the Pennsylvanians in the country to attend a picnic, so August 15 was decided upon. "One or two prominent Pennsylvanians living in the east will doubtless be with us in August," said one of the officers. "Most of our local orators had engagements for the 20th and could not be present. As many as we desire will be in line for August 15." The picnic will be held at Blair and will be a basket affair.

PERFUME, COLOR AND BEAUTY

Mrs. Crosby Lectures on the Combina tion of Tints, Odors and Physique.

There was scarcely a gratifying attendnce, in point of numbers, at Chambers' academy Saturday afternoon to hear Mrs. Helene Crosby's lecture and violet demon stration, but those who attended were repaid for their effort. The effect of colors end odors was her subject, and the demonstration was in violet. The lights of shades and the odor of attar of violets pervaded the academy while the speaker was gowned in a handsome toilet in shades of violet. Mrs. Crosby has very optimistic ideas of what makes beauty ality above mere physical beauty, and urges that whether it be in colors or perbest suits her and then stick to it.

Some interesting theatrical news is that of the special engagement of the great Yiddish actor, Mr. Ellis F. Glickman, with a big company of Yiddish actors at the Orpheum theater for two evenings. leading talent of the Jewish stage. On the opening night, Saturday, June 17, will be produced an excellent Biblical historical drama in four acts, by Prof. Horwitz entitled "Jacob and Essau," and on Sunday night, June 18, "The Golden Coun-

Dr. Murch on Egypt.

Dr. Murch on Egypt.

Dr. Chauncey Murch, lecturer, world traveler and historian, delivered an interesting lecture in the library auditorium last night on the subject, "Egyptian Archaeology." A very large gathering of representative Omaha people were present, who evidently were much interested in the subject discussed by Dr. Murch, who has been traveling in Egypt since 1883, this being only the second time he has returned to this country since then.

The lecturer took the audience, as it were, from the ancient times in Egypt, during the time of the building of the great pyramids—as far back as the eleventh dynasty of kings and queens, up to the present day, and gave a very realistic description of Cairo, the capital of Egypt.

Dr. Murch has been traveling in Egypt in the interests of the Foreign Mission society of the United Presbyterian church, and is a native of Ohio. He will speak at the United Presbyterian church, Twenty-fourth and Dodge streets, today at 10:30 o'clock.
